Community Newsletter, Fall 2008

From the Mayor's Desk

By Mayor Jay Nolan

Join us on Friday, November 21 at 4:30 p.m. to 'cut the ribbon' on the City's recently-completed streetscape program and to watch the holiday lights come on in Downtown Harvard.

Both events will take place at the Community Sign at Five Points. Civic leaders will officially 're-open' the downtown area, which now sports new lighting, sidewalks, curbs and walkways and amenities such as planters and benches. Several downtown buildings have also received facelifts from their owners.

Harvard will then 'flip the switch' on its holiday lighting program, which features lit wreaths on more than 70 new light posts. A new era will officially begin for the downtown district.

The City is working with the Harvard EDC to help building owners recruit the types of businesses that Harvard residents say they need and want. Call the HEDC at 943-1036 to learn about special programs that may be available to help bring your business to Downtown Harvard.

Have a safe and healthy holiday season. The salt shortage is very real this year, throughout the region. Be sure to drive safely, wherever you go.

From Your City Library ...

By Harriet Roll, Librarian

Often, our newest materials aren't available to browse, because they are quickly checked out by local patrons or by borrowers in the greater library system. Our library shares all of its materials with seven other libraries and they, in turn, share with us.

We have created a new procedure to make it easier to know 'what's new at the Library'. Here's how it works: Look for display of cards for new titles in the new books section and bring that card to the desk to be among the first to request new material. The card will then be returned to the section for others to browse. New books can now be checked out for three weeks. You can also suggest books, movies, music and audio books that you think the library should own.

You can access a wide range of Library services from home, using your library card barcode number. By logging in through the Library's web page, you can look up magazine articles in the Ebsco Masterfile, do genealogical research using HeritageQuest, or check to see which titles came first in a book series by looking in NoveList. You can also place holds, renew many items and check your 'reading history' by logging into your account.

Additional online databases can be accessed at the Library. Ask a staff member to log you on to check out sites such as the Auto Repair Reference Center, the Consumer Health Index for medical references, or Books in Print covering available, out-of-print, forthcoming and other formats of fiction and non-fiction titles.

Check the library's website for upcoming events, programs and special displays — wherever you may be!

News from Milk Days

The 68th annual Milk Days festival will be held May 9 - June 7, 2009. New attractions and entertainment are being planned and new committees have been added to expand the Craft Show, Grilling Competition and Horse Show.

We are looking for input on these projects: 1) A Milk Days cookbook featuring recipes from area residents. We hope you will share your favorites; 2) Possible themes for the 2009 event; 3) Individuals interested in creating this year's Milk Days poster. All input should be submitted by December 31, 2008 via email to info@milkdays.com or via mail to Milk Days Chair Bryce Bannwolf, P. O. Box 325, Harvard IL 60033. Questions? Call the Milk Days office at (815) 943-4614 or stop by 201 W. Front Street in downtown Harvard.

NEED TO KNOW ...

Leaf Vacuuming Schedule

Leaf Vacuuming has started and will continue depending on weather conditions. Please rake your leaves to the curb, NOT THE STREET. Marengo Disposal will vacuum leaves until either the leaves are all gone or it snows, whichever comes first. If you have any questions, please contact Marengo Disposal at (815) 943-4939.

Special Recreation Program

Do you know someone with a disability who would like to go out, have fun and make new friends? NISRA (Northern Illinois Special Recreation Association) provides year-round recreation activities and Special Olympics for residents with disabilities of all ages and ability levels. A few programs are located in Harvard and transportation is available to programs in other communities. Pick up NISRA's fall catalog at City Hall, view it at www.nisra.org or call (815) 459-0737 to have one mailed to you.

Salt Shortage This Winter!

Winter is just around the corner.

As most of you have heard, road salt is in short supply this winter. Salt that is available costs the City of Harvard $141.00 a ton compared to the $40.65 per ton that we paid a year ago. Due to both factors, the City was able to purchase less than half of last year's total. We will mix sand with the salt to make our supply last through the winter. This will help extend the salt supply, but will not solve the shortage.

To ensure we have enough salt, the City has made several policy decisions. The downtown area, the areas around the schools and the emergency routes will be salted as usual. Intersections and steep grades will also be maintained as in the past. The rest of the streets in the city will be plowed only. We ask all drivers to please drive with caution this winter.

Please remember that after a 2" snowfall, all vehicles should be off the streets. This allows us to plow and salt the roads quickly. If a snow emergency is declared, all vehicles should be removed from the streets. A snow emergency can be declared before a 2" snowfall. A snow emergency will be posted on the community sign as soon as possible. If you are unsure whether an emergency has been called or terminated, call Public Works at 943-4161 or the police station at 943-4431.
